

Project Report „Porsche Service Centre Pfaffenhausen“ (DE) High-Quality Doors for a Stylish Ambiance

„We have known the company Butzbach for many years. We are united by the same corporate thinking and quality awareness. That is why we decided on Butzbach.“

PORSCHE

Alois Ruf (Owner)
Ruf Automobile GmbH

For over 70 years, the name RUF has stood for expertise when dealing with automobiles. The history of the company shows that it has not just made a name for itself as a vehicle manufacturer, but also with vehicle refinements and the restoration and rebuilding of classic RUF and Porsche vehicles. With the conversion of the assembly hall into the first Porsche

Service Centre in Germany, RUF Automobile GmbH harmonised every detail of the appearance of the former hall with the guidelines of the Porsche architecture.

Butzbach provided two stacking doors for this conversion and the custom-size door panels of these doors are fully equipped with vision panels.

Thanks to the exceptional construction of the stacking doors, these adapt themselves ideally to the basic local conditions of the former assembly hall and do not interfere with the sections located behind them as a result of their space-saving opening principle. The shop front in the same design is also from the company Butzbach.